Letter from the Executive Director

While I was preparing a photo timeline as part of our 30th Anniversary celebration, I spent many hours looking through old photo albums and scrapbooks of the early years of North Hawaii Hospice. In every year and every milestone, whether it was painting the first hospice office, or constructing the addition to the first hospice office, or remodeling the small cottage that became our current hospice headquarters, the photos depicted members of our community young and old lending a hand. They were up on ladders, wielding paintbrushes, drawing architectural plans, designing interior finishes, or installing office furniture and window shades. There were photos of the first hospice volunteer training showing community members learning patient care techniques such as safe transferring from bed to chair or brushing the teeth of a bedbound patient. This kind of community spirit was the spirit that carried this organization in its humble beginnings. So many helping hands and loving hearts have been there all along.

We are your hospice and we are indeed stewards of a sacred trust. We are still here after 30 years, the little hospice that showed it could do the hard work that it takes to serve a small rural community with the intention of always being there to offer care and hope.

We have grown as our communities' needs have grown. We are now beginning to explore the establishment of a hospice home where we can care for patients who do not have a caregiver in their home and desire a homelike environment instead of a long-term care facility. We are in the early phase of exploration and are hoping to find a setting where we can care for up to six patients. We are relying on the angels that have always surrounded our sacred work, knowing that when the time is right we will see this new dream materialize.

Thank you for your support. We are YOUR hospice,

Celebrating Our Hospice Volunteers

It was a beautiful day for a Sunday morning brunch. The skies were especially clear and blue, the pu`u were bright green, and the stream behind Anna Ranch was running with clear fresh water. North Hawaii Hospice had gathered its volunteers to enjoy a festive party complete with live music provided by Big Rock, a Mimosa bar tended by hospice staff members, and a photo booth with crazy costumes.

Our volunteers are a special group of folks that dedicate many hours of service to North Hawaii Hospice. They visit our patients and families in their homes, they answer the phones, they assist with mailings, and they donate services to our patients such as massage, acupuncture, healing touch, or assist with making patient story videos.

We can't thank them enough or show them enough appreciation, but we hope that our annual appreciation event serves to celebrate their generosity. Being a hospice volunteer is a calling and if you would like to answer the call, please contact our dedicated volunteer services coordinator, Bobbi Bryant at 885-7547.

NEW FACES AT HOSPICE

by Phyllis Tarail

Leilani Dumaguin, RN

Leilani met me in the Ohana Room in the hospice office with a warm, yet gentle smile. She seemed very grounded and centered. Describing herself growing up in Mesa, Arizona as shy and reserved, Leilani now portrays herself as a good listener, a characteristic she feels particularly helpful in her role as a hospice nurse. Leilani was born and raised in the same house and she didn't leave Mesa, Arizona until she was 22, when she moved to Utah. At the technical high school where she graduated, Leilani spent half of her day taking regular high school classes and the other half learning nursing, so when she graduated, she already had a Certified Nurse's Aide certificate.

When Leilani was 14, her 15 year-old brother died and she became interested in "the art of healing." She went to nursing school at Scottsdale Community College, still living at home to save money. Happy to have graduated with no debt, she felt it was time to move out on her own. She sent out lots of applications and was selected for an on-call position as a hospice nurse at Rocky Mountain Hospice in Provo, Utah. Shortly thereafter she was promoted to case manager, for which she "felt underqualified," but feels that it was also "a blessing" because she "found my love for hospice work...it was meant to be." She is now pursuing a B.S. degree in nursing online and she hopes to complete her studies within a year and a half.

Six months after moving to Utah, at Christmas in 2013, she met her husband on a blind date. Kimo, Kona born and raised, had graduated from college in Utah, but had always planned to move back to Hawaii Island where his family had a coffee farm. They were married in June 2015 and they moved in with Kimo's mother in July 2016.

Kimo is a middle school teacher at Innovations Charter School and since his father passed away he also manages the family coffee farm in Captain Cook.

Although Leilani has only been on the island for a few months, she already feels very comfortable and excited with island life as it connects her with her "Polynesian heritage"—her dad is from Samoa and he always identified himself as an "Island Boy." He's very happy that she's living here and her parents are hoping to move here themselves.

Off hours, she's learned to snorkel and she loves being in the ocean. She has to be careful where she's snorkeling, though, because Kimo is a spear fisherman!! Back in Mesa, Leilani sang in a number of large choral groups and would maybe like to join one here when she has the time.

Leilani started at North Hawaii Hospice in September 2016, and she has found that bedside care for hospice patients here is the same as it was in Utah. What's different here is that she finds way fewer resources, since it's so rural. She's living in North Kona and mostly working with patients in Waikoloa, and she and Kimo are saving to buy their own home. Leilani is very excited to be living here—she feels this will be her permanent home and she's learning more and more about island life and how she can help in her role as a hospice nurse—a position she feels called to.

Jennifer Real, MD

Meeting with Jennifer Real for the first time at the North Hawaii Community Hospital lobby, I was greeted with a wide smile and a warm handshake. She suggested we go outside to sit at an umbrella-covered table in a quiet inner courtyard where we could talk. Jennifer has been involved with North Hawaii Hospice (NHH) for about a year now—since her sister-in-law, Rachel Real, LPN (an NHH nurse) recommended her.

I asked her to give me a short bio and she told me that she grew up in Cincinnati, Ohio and that it was her pediatrician grandfather that gave her the impetus to study medicine. Majoring in chemistry at Whittier College in California, she then went all the way east to study medicine at Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York City. Coming back to the west coast to do her residency in internal medicine at UC San Diego, she also met her husband, David, who was then in the Navy. Her plans were to become a pulmonary specialist, but when David was transferred to Virginia Beach, she became a hospitalist and she discovered that she liked this type of medicine.

When David got out of the Navy in 2012, they traveled all over the country looking for a piece of land where they could build a house and live off the land and off-grid. A friend recommended that they check out Hawaii Island, so they came here on vacation, fell in love with the island and she gave six months notice and they came over. Shortly after moving, North Hawaii Community Hospital had an opening for a hospitalist, so she had a job. They bought land in mauka Ninole and moved there with their two dogs. In eight months, David built them an off-grid house and spent lots of time getting rid of invasive trees, particularly guava, in order to allow the koa to grow. David has a sawmill and he's been milling the downed koa. They started an organic farm, called Bokoa (after their most special dog, Bo) and are now growing taro, pineapple, coffee, and avocados. They are home to 29 free range ducks, the first of which, Dolly, showed up under their bedroom window, quacking at 5 am!!

Jennifer has taken up biking since moving here—she started in a spin class, then road biking, and now she loves to ride up mountains (Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa) on her mountain bike as well as participating in local races. She provides encouragement to people, especially other women, to get into biking.

As an animal lover, she has found herself picking up pets on the side of the road and taking them home to care for them until she can find their owner or a new home. These are usually dogs, as Jennifer is allergic to cats. One day, however, on her way home from work, she saw a black kitten by the side of the road and she just had to stop. The kitten started “screeching” when it saw her, so Jennifer figured she had to do something. She found a box in the back of her truck and she told the kitten that if it jumped into the box, she would take it home. So, of course, it jumped into the box. Unfortunately, after a short drive the kitten jumped out of the box and into the passenger seat, “screeching” away. Jennifer started freaking out, worried that the kitten was going to claw her, so she stopped driving and called her husband. He told her to stop worrying and just bring the kitten home! Luckily, the kitten jumped into a grocery bag, Jennifer tied the top shut and off they went. David was waiting when she drove up, picked up the kitten, hugged it to his chest and the kitten started purring away. David loves cats! They took care of it until Rachel’s mother adopted the kitten and named it “Moxie,” of which she has plenty.

The warmth that Jennifer showed me when we met is the same reason she likes working with hospice patients. She loves going into people’s homes and getting to know them. She feels that “it’s a privilege to be part of patients’ lives” and she loves working with NHH where everyone is very nice. Jennifer wants to see NHH create a hospice home or inpatient facility here in Waimea, and she hopes to help make that vision a reality.

Floating Lanterns to Honor and Remember

This past August, North Hawaii Hospice (NHH) partnered with Fairmont Orchid, Hawaii on the Kohala Coast to provide our community with an opportunity to participate in a ceremony to honor and remember loved-ones who have passed on.

Chaired by NHH volunteers Miles Okumura and Lynn Higashi with help from Marty Hind, the event included Hawaiian music, hula, Taiko drumming, prayers, chanting and a lantern release at sunset. Participants gathered to decorate their lanterns with messages, prayers, and photos of their loved-ones. There were delicious food and beverage concessions provided by Fairmont Orchid, Hawaii so that families could enjoy refreshments together while they decorated their lanterns. Lyman Medeiros took the stage at the as Master of Ceremonies and the music and hula were provided by Hulali Covington and her hula halau. The Kona Daifukuji Taiko drummers performed, followed by a chant and ringing of the bell by Reverend Shingo Furusawa of the Honokaa, Kamuela, Kohala, and Paauilo Buddhist temples of the Honpa Hongwanji Mission of Hawaii. NHH chaplain Rev. Bob Schwarzhaupt said a prayer and blessing.

Gratitude goes out to Mew Lan Seto and Jaisy Jardine, and the managers and staff of Fairmont Orchid, Hawaii for lending all of their professional expertise. We are so grateful to everyone who volunteered to make this event such a memorable one.

If you have not attended one of these events, please join us next year. The event is a beautiful opportunity to participate in a meaningful ceremony that has a positive effect on those who are grieving loss. We hope to see you there.

The Tommy Bahama Classic Golf Tournament 2016 Benefits North Hawaii Hospice!

North Hawaii Hospice was the beneficiary of the Tommy Bahama Big Island Classic Golf Tournament. The 10th annual event was held on a perfectly gorgeous day at the Mauna Kea Beach Resort. This event has become so popular that it sells out quickly. This was the 7th year that North Hawaii Hospice partnered with Tommy Bahama to produce the fun filled event. The event is a full day at the beautiful world class golf resort with delicious food and tropical drinks supplied by Tommy Bahama, wonderful prizes and golf goodie bags, all to benefit North Hawaii Hospice's programs and services.

A special big Mahalo to the entire staff of Tommy Bahama at Mauna Lani, the entire golf team at the Mauna Kea Beach Resort, each and every golfer who came to play, and all of our Hospice volunteers who made the event so great. A special thanks also to all of our many sponsors and donors. This year, the event netted over $50,000 to support North Hawaii Hospice's programs and services.

Prakash Flynn

Virginia "Prakash" Flynn is the owner and operator of Elements Jewelry & Crafts in Hawaii.

Raised on Oahu, she has been a resident of North Kohala since 1987.

Prakash brings the perspective of a family caregiver to the North Hawaii Hospice board. North Hawaii Hospice enabled her and her family to care for her mother, Pat Garties, at home during her long illness with dementia, as well as providing a much needed support system through the illness and passing of her husband Jewelry Designer, John Flynn.

Prakash hopes her experience as a family caregiver will enable her to be of value to the hospice organization and to other North Hawaii families. We are so grateful to have Prakash's perspective represented. Prakash also serves on our Programs, Services, and Outreach committee.

Hats off to Hospice:

High Tea and Auction

You could not ask for better weather on the slopes of Waikii Ranch, where the 2016 High Tea and Auction was held. There was a white tent set up next to the clubhouse to hold the tables decorated to perfection. The theme was "Hats off to Hospice" and the ladies as well as men were adorned in their best hats. Tea time is after lunch and before dinner but it is very easy to devour bite-size nibbles being continuously presented on a silver platter by smiling faces. Who wouldn't enjoy one of Judy Frazier's famous chicken sandwiches with toasted almond crust followed by a macadamia nut bar with chocolate drizzle? These and many other savory and sweet treats were prepared and baked by the following friends of North Hawaii Hospice: Ali Woods, Judy Frazier, Whitney Harvey, and Jaisy Jardine.

North Hawaii Hospice could not provide the level of assistance to its families without the success of events such as the tea and golf fundraisers.
